PITCAIRN ISLAND ---> The recent VP6R Dxpedition is now a gorgeous photo book (239 pages), authored by Nodir Tursun-Zade (EY8MM) and packed with spectacular pictures. It is available for you to browse through and/or purchase at <https://www.blurb.com/b/9820054-vp6r-expedition-to-pitcairn-island>.

VP8/VP8DXU ---> Alan Cheshire (VK6CQ) has joined the South Orkney Islands DXpedition team; he replaces WD5COV who has had to leave the project. Loaded into a sea container, the equipment is on its way to Chile. It is expected to arrive at Coronel on 21 December; subsequently, the shipment will be taken to Punta Arenas. The estimated cost of this project is 310,000-325,000 USD, with the most expensive line items being the ship, freight and cold weather shelters. As for fundraising, 49 clubs/foundations and over 400 individuals have supported the project so far. "While we still have a long way to go", the team reports, "we continue to make progress towards our goal of the radio team paying 50% of the project cost with sponsorships paying the remainder". The next major milestones include finalizing the radio operating schedule and assigning team member responsibilities for camp setup, radio and antenna installation.
