425DXN AUDIO VERSION: We are working on an audio version of 425 DX News for poor-sighted or blind amateurs, which will be used also for Echolink tests. The latest two issues (#738 and #739) can be downloaded from http://www.425dxn.org/Audio_bulletin/indbulle.html
Comments and suggestions can be sent to Paolo Pero, I1HJP (i1hjp@arinizza.it).

DX SUMMIT & OH#W: The Elisa Radio Club of Finland is managing the original world-renowned DX Summit, and you may have noticed that their heading includes the callsign of the group who operates the DX Cluster, OH9W.
This coming weekend marks another interesting event when the DX Cluster will be employed to support the WRTC-2006 (World Radiosport Team Championship) OH qualifying run for 24 hours during the CW/SSB IARU Radiosport Contest.
OH9W along with six other callsigns (OH2W, OH4W, OH5W, OH6W, OH7W and OH8W) will compete with low-power stations to capture the honors for Finnish team captain of the 2006 WRTC event (the competing captain candidates will be OH0XX, OH1JT, OH1NOA, OH2UA, OH4JFN and OH6RX).

You are invited to try to log these seven stations by following this DX Summit link: http://oh2aq.kolumbus.com/dxs/wrtc.html From the above link you can move to the DX Summit Main Page and send your own spots and compete for honors to be one of the stations producing the highest number of spots during this event. If you manage to work all seven stations, a professional video featuring the WRTC-2002 event will be yours at no cost. [TNX OH2BH]

LOGS: On-line logs for TA0/YZ1SG (AS-098) and TA4/YZ1SG are now available on http://dx.qsl.net/logs/index.html. QSL via YZ1SG, direct (Goran Savic, Zlatiborska 59, 31310 Cajetina, Serbia & Montenegro) or bureau. [TNX YZ1SG]
