QSL VK0TS ---> QSL manager VK1AUS (Simon Trotter, P.O. Box 2063, Kambah Village, ACT 2902, Australia) reports the cards for Tom, VK0TS (Macquarie Island) are being printed. He expects to start answering requests in three or four weeks.

QSL ON LINE ---> The following has been received from Goran, SM0DRD: "An interesting idea is developing at SK0UX. You may search our logs for your QSOs and then download QSLs immediately to your home printer. The QSL Server is already operational. We believe this is a first and the concept has already generated a lot of interest. The potential savings are enormous. We have already received requests from hams who want to set up their own QSL Servers and have one beta tester working on it. Other special event calls which we have used are SK0HQ and SK0RQ and their QSLs as well as club members are also available. During the CQ WW CW in November, we will field test making QSLs from our expedition to Cuba (T48RCT) [425DXN 327, ed.] available within hours after your contact! [...] Check it out for yourself at <<http://ham.te.hik.se/clubs/sk0ux>>. The QSLs are typografically the same as a 'snail-mailed' card and may have pictures. [...] Comments and suggestions are very welcome since new possibilities are developing almost daily, mail to <goran@tjansteforbundet.se>".
